

WELCOME TO DINING

Food is a vital part of college life. A meal with friends doesn't just nourish the body, it builds lasting relationships and feeds the soul. At the same time, campus dining can also be a source of anxiety: Will there be options for me? What if I don't have time to sit down? Will the food even be good?

Yes! We are dedicated to ensuring that every student receives delicious meals that meet their dietary needs and that students feel safe and supported.

But that doesn't mean eating at Pepperdine University has to be serious. We know plenty of students who would subsist on a diet of bar-shaped foods and late-night pizza if left to their own devices. We get it. But we can offer something more: seasonal, made-from-scratch meals that fit into students' lifestyles.

Whether it's a late-night craving, need a caffeinated pick-me-up, or a acai bowl on the run, we're committed to making delicious, wholesome food that works for real life.

Let us show you how.
